FOUR NEARLY DROWNED

By the Capsizing of Row Boat in the Waukegan Harbor Sunday Afternoon

HAD BEEN OUT FISHING

Rough Sea Caused Boat to Swamp—Heroic Action of One Occupant and of Bystander Saves Lives

The sinking of a row boat in the Waukegan harbor Sunday afternoon nearly caused the death of four men. Had help not been given immediately, it is certain that at least two members of the party would have lost their lives. One man alone and unaided went to their rescue in the light house keeper's boat, and with the assistance of the light house keeper who came to his assistance a short time later, managed to draw them to safety.

A party consisting of Paul Gerhardt, formerly a baker at Highland Park; R. Gruener, a barber, Edward Giese, city surveyor, and Joseph Tucker, all of Waukegan, rowed out to the breakwater to fish.

They had not been there long before a wind arose and the lake became rough. Thinking that the storm would be of short duration they decided to stay a while longer. But instead of dying out the wind became stronger and the waves ran higher and higher. At last it was decided that they had better return to the shore with all possible haste.

They started and as long as they were in the shelter of the breakwater all went well, but the moment they got where the waves could strike them they began to have trouble.

The frail little craft was pitched to and fro and despite the fact that Mr. Gruener, who was doing the rowing, was a expert oarsman, the heavy load made the task a difficult one.

Just as they arrived at a point between the north and south piers they were struck by a wave larger than any of the rest. The stern went under and the boat was swamped. In an instant the four men found themselves struggling in the water.

Only two of the men could swim. Giese at once struck out for shore and reached a place of safety. Gruener, however, perceived the fact that his companions could not swim and keeping a cool head decided to stay and keep them above water. This was not an easy task for Gerhardt seemed to be completely exhausted. Tucker grasped the stern of the boat and clung there but Gerhardt was washed loose by the high waves.

Gruener dived and brought the unfortunate man to the surface where he placed his hands on the edge of the boat. Once more the waves washed him loose and again he sank beneath the water. This time it was not so easy to rescue him and it was two minutes before he rose to the surface.

Reaching out across the boat he grasped the man by the finger just as he was about to sink again. He kept his hold but Gerhardt's finger was broken.

Hundreds of people who stood on the pier were horrified at the sight and feared that they were about to witness a calamity. Rollo Hill of Oak street had been fishing on the south pier when his attention was drawn to the cries of others who had noticed the swamping of the boat. Without a second's delay Hill dashed up the pier to the place where the light house keeper has a boat.

With the aid of a couple of men the boat was drawn. "I am going out. Who will go with me?" cried Hill, but the men who stood about shrunk from risking their lives.

"Well, I'll go alone, then," he cried, as he jumped into the boat and rowed toward the men in the water. His task was a difficult one as it was almost impossible to manage a boat in the heavy sea. Once he approached the men and was about to help one aboard when his boat was hurled away.

By this time the light house keeper had arrived and he called for Hill to row in and take him aboard. This was done and the two men were better able to manage the boat. Gerhardt was lifted into the boat and a toe line made fast to the water logged craft which the men had used.

This was towed to the side of the pier where the men were lifted to safety.

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned for hauling gravel for graveling the road from the Sylvan Beach Hotel to the Will Tiffany corners. Bids will be received at any time up to Oct. 1, 1908. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. William Girard, Antioch.

WILL RAISE THE RIVER LEVEL

St. Paul Rail Road Company Begin Work of filling in Nippersink Neck.

Saturday afternoon September 5 the St. Paul railroad company began work filling in the trestle at Nippersink neck, south of Fox Lake. The railroad here crosses a stretch of open water 600 feet across. There is a drawbridge in the center and the rest of the distance the tracks are on an open trestle.

The railroad company claims it has great difficulty in keeping this part of their track in order due to the damage by ice in the spring and, in spite of their efforts, is never in good order. So they have determined to fill in a part of the way. Boat men and farmers north of the river immediately became interested. Water had been flowing under the entire 600 feet and they feared that if the channel was greatly narrowed it would raise the water above the drawbridge and create such a current that boats would have a hard task to get through from below. The fact that the work was begun with Sunday and a holiday following, when they could not be stopped by injunction seemed a suspicious circumstance.

An investigation was promptly set on foot and the company explained that they would leave 200 feet of drawbridge and trestle for the water to pass through and that they had started in with two holidays because then less freight traffic was passing over the road and the progress of the work was less subject to interruptions. The explanation eased the matter for awhile but it is known that summer resorters are not satisfied with the depth of the water at present and attempts to dam Nippersink neck and the exit from Channel lake are confidently looked forward to. The hole in the McHenry dam is being repaired with rock in a stable manner. The flush boards are now all on this dam once more and as a consequence the water is slowly rising in the lower lakes. The resort people are more inclined to respect the rights of property owners than in the past and it is likely that dredging as a means of keeping open the channel will receive more favor than it has heretofore.

RURAL CARRIERS AGITATE

BETTER ROADS

The rural mail carriers of Illinois have gone on record as favoring an amendment of the law which calls for the election of three commissioners of highways in every township. The change that the carriers propose is to have one commissioner elected who is to give his entire time and attention to keeping up the road of the township. This man would be paid a good salary and would be thoroughly competent and expert. In this way the farmer, the carrier and the general public would be benefited by good road all the year around.

The objection urged by the carriers to the idea of having three commissioners is that no one of them can or does devote his best efforts to building and maintaining roads. The work is not yet systemized and bit or miss fashion prevails. The rural carriers know what the defects of the roads are all over the state, for there is no class of citizens who use them more than they and who are in position to say just what the shortcomings of the present systems are.

At the next session there is no doubt that an effort will be made to have the law amended. The mail carriers have an organization and a representative at Springfield who looks after their interests. As a result of their constant agitation for good roads there can be no doubt that the highways of Illinois will be improved from year to year until they reach that point of perfection characteristic of the country roads of the continent of Europe.

NEW MILLINERY

PARLOR OPENED

AT OSMOND'S

Antioch now has another millinery parlor which was this week opened in the Osmond store situated in the Union block, with Miss Grace Gullidge in charge. Miss Gullidge has spent considerable time in learning this business and is now competent to please even the most exacting.

This millinery department will be operated in connection with the ladies furnishing department and the proprietors will make every effort to supply the demands of their patrons and we predict for them a large amount of success in their new undertaking.

Fines for Bachelors.

Suffragette—Fines and penalties were imposed on bachelors in Greece and Rome. At certain festivals in Sparta it was the custom for women to drag old bachelors around the altar. The victims were not handled gently. In England as late as 1785 higher taxes were imposed on the servants of bachelors than on those of other people.

SMOKE CAUSES DEATH

Henry Jones, Colored, Found Dead in Bungalow at Lake Bluff

SUFFOCATED WHILE DRUNK

Dead Body Found Between Quills That Were Still Smoldering—Corner Taylor Holds Inquest

Henry Jones, colored, age 30, was found asphyxiated by smoke Tuesday morning at six o'clock in a bungalow adjoining the Thomas Rankin residence at Lake Bluff.

When an entrance was forced fire was discovered among the bed quilts of the bed on which Jones has slept. At that time Jones lay on the floor in an unconscious condition.

Jones went to Waukegan Monday evening about eight o'clock and immediately commenced bowling up until upon his arrival home he was pretty well intoxicated. He is supposed to have retired immediately.

About three o'clock Tuesday morning William Rankin, eldest son of Thomas Rankin, a manufacturer, heard a noise in the bungalow. He investigated and learned from the colored man that he had been drinking and that he was intoxicated. He told him that he would have to be quiet so that the people in the house would be able to sleep. He left the bungalow and thought nothing more of it until at six o'clock Tuesday morning he observed smoke curling from the roof. He forced an entrance and found the coachman lying dead on the floor.

Jones was well known in Waukegan as had visited there frequently during the past year. He claimed that he was married and had a wife and family living in Chicago.

Dr. J. L. Taylor, coroner, held the inquest early Tuesday morning. The verdict reads as follows: Jones came to his death by being asphyxiated by smoke while intoxicated.

An effort is being made to locate and notify his wife and family.

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE AT FOX LAKE

Frank Fish and Frank Lasher have sold Indian Point at Fox Lake to Mr. A. Cook, a banker in Chicago. The land comprises about twenty acres and projects far out into the lake. It has been owned by the two Elgin men for the past six years and was considered a good investment. The property is so situated to be the finest in that region.

In buying the land Mr. Cook noted with a number of prominent Chicago bankers who will erect several large summer homes in the future. The shores will be dredged and a number of other improvements will be made.

WILD MAN INVADERS HOMES OF FARMERS

After terrorizing the women of two families living several miles west of Highland Park, a man who gave his name as William Graukoski of Chicago, was arrested Monday by Chief of Police Nelson of Highland Park.

The man is insane, evidently on the subject of religion. Unkempt and dirty and muttering strange words, he appeared at the residence of Mrs. W. E. Dawson about 4 o'clock. Mrs. Dawson was alone with her daughter.

The women became alarmed and fled to the home of Mrs. Matthew Zahne. The insane man followed them.

The women armed themselves and telephoned for the police. Graukoski attempted no violence at the Zahne residence, he partially demolished the interior of the Dawson home after the women had left.

The report that a "wild man" was on the rampage near the town caused great excitement for a time, but he was later arrested and locked up.

Praise and Blame.

The mere fact that praise and blame are at present the corner stone of our moral and social systems goes for nothing. We shall outgrow that just as we have more or less outgrown the primitive desire to kill each other. And can any one deny that a world in which blame did not exist would be far more habitable, civilized and logical?

BODY ACTS AS TORCH

Waukegan Tinner Overturns Pot of Boiling Pitch Over His Body

CLOTHES INSTANTLY IGNITE

Fellow Workmen Attempted to Rescue Victim but were Unable to Reach Him in Time to Prevent Bad Burns

In attempting to lift a blazing pot of rosin and gasoline from a fire on the roof of a new Talcott North Sheridan road Waukegan late Thursday afternoon, Jerry Wright, 855 Grand avenue, employed as tinner by the Lanyon Hardware store, overturned the whole mass of boiling pitch over his body.

The inflammable material ignited instantaneously and the flames sprang ten feet in the air. The body of the unfortunate man was converted into a human torch. Mad with the flames filling his eyes and nostrils, to say nothing of the excruciating pain from the boiling pitch which clung to his body, Wright dashed across the roof, running an imminent risk of plunging to the ground thirty feet below. It was not until he managed to tear the burning cloth from his body that he suffered a temporary relief. As a result his face, hands and body are badly blistered.

Wright had been mixing rosin, gasoline and some other material in an iron kettle over a fire, preparatory to applying it to the roof. Suddenly the kettle started to boil over and fearing that an explosion might occur if the gasoline came in contact with the flames, Wright attempted to life the pot from the fire.

In so doing he must have jerked it a little as he overturned it on his chest and abdomen and the front part of his clothes were nearly soaked with it. Before he could get away the fire had leaped to his clothing.

Fellow Workmen tried to go to Wright's assistance but they could not reach him in time to prevent serious burns. Danger was added by the fact that the accident occurred on a high roof.

USES PITCHFORK IN BATTLE WITH ENRAGED BULL

Frank Curry of North County street, Waukegan, had a miraculous escape from death from an enraged bull Saturday afternoon at the O. G. Hawkins farm west of Spaulding's Corners and as a result of the frightful experience, he is at his home where he will be laid up for some time.

He has no broken bones, a most surprising thing, yet he is badly bruised and feels his escape was most remarkable.

Curry had been working at the place a short time and was sent to bring in the cows for milking. Knowing there was a bull in the field and being a stranger there he took along a pitchfork to defend himself in case the bull showed anger. Never before has the animal turned on anybody but usually they are not friendly to strangers, therefore he went prepared.

He had started for the barn when the animal made for him and before he could reach the fence he was thrown to the ground and the animal started butting him fiercely. Curry tried to get away because he was where no help was at hand and finally he managed to work his way to the fence under which he rolled and thus got away. He had no chance to use the fork as he was taken so unawares.

The fact that the bull was delirious was what saved his life for, had it had horns, it would surely have killed him.

Quaint Death Notice.

This notice appeared recently in a German paper: "Bowed with grief and recognizing the wisdom of God, who decreed it, the widow and four children of Hartwig Langmann make known to their relatives and friends the entry into eternal rest of a beloved husband and father. There will be no oration at his funeral, because no words could describe his worth or make our sorrow less. Flowers from those who share our grief should not be sent, because the custom was distasteful to him who has gone. If a desire to show such a mark of respect exists let it find expression in gifts to the poor, whose thanks we shall echo in the firm knowledge that the act would find favor with him whose life was good as ours."

Where People Live Long.

Turkey holds the record for the number of aged persons in proportion to the population.

AGED COUPLE ARE MARRIED

Elias Cobb and Mrs. Mary Allen are Married at Cnetek, September 9.

The following article clipped from this week's issue of the Chetek Alert is well worth publishing and will be interesting to a large number of our readers in view of the fact that the parties herein mentioned are very well known in this vicinity. Mr. Cobb for many years having owned and resided upon a small place at Beech Grove, just south of town, and Mrs. Allen having for years lived at Grass Lake where she conducted the post office many years and until the rural route done away with the office at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb were both familiar figures on our streets and left Antioch to locate in the north only a few months ago, and both have many relatives at this place who although somewhat surprised to learn of their marriage are extending congratulations to the newly wedded couple.

Wednesday, September 9, Elias Cobb was four score and four years old. It was the most eventful birthday in all his life, for then and there he was presented with the sweetest gift that world alone can give to man, a charming bride.

The woman in the case is Mrs. Mary Allen who has passed her sixty-eighth mile stone. She is a lady of kindly disposition and Christian character. Friends who are acquainted with the venerable pair know they will enjoy each others companionship during the passing years.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb each have considerable property and together they will enjoy life on the homestead lately purchased of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dodge.

The marriage ceremony was performed at ten o'clock Wednesday forenoon at the Dodge residence by Justice L. P. Charles, Mr. Ben Dodge and Mrs. A. Gonsky were the witnesses. Rev. Wm. Bell was also present and assisted with the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb were serenaded by the Sioux Creek boys Thursday night but Eli had taken his bride and flown.

FIRE ENDANGERS

PROPERTY AT

SILVER LAKE

The colony of Chicago and Waukegan people who have been summering at Silver Lake, had a hard fight Thursday night of last week to save their summer homes from destruction by fire.

A grass blaze was started by a Wisconsin Central locomotive and burned over a territory several miles square.

The summer visitors formed bucket brigades and the flames were stopped in some cases almost at the steps of the residences. The farmers in the neighborhood were not so fortunate, as a great quantity of hay and grain was destroyed.

The big ice houses of the Knickerbocker and Jefferson companies on the banks of the lake were in danger for many hours.

POST OFFICE

SUSPECTS

ARE LET GO

The three men arrested at Fourth Lake Saturday on suspicion of being the Waukegan post office robbers were Tuesday morning turned loose by the police department and they have returned to Chicago.

The suspicions held against the men proved of no account and the officers not only could not connect them with the robbery but had nothing else against them, so there was nothing to do but let them go.

The trio appeared much incensed at their detention but the Waukegan police had no part in it other than follow the advice of the Chicago detectives who claimed to have certain evidence against them.

JUDGE DONNELLY

ENTERTAINS

ATTORNEYS

One hundred attorneys, jurists and members of the press of Lake, Boone, Winnebago and Cook counties were Monday entertained all day at the summer home of Judge C. C. Donnelly on Lake Geneva.

The Waukegan and Lake county party of twenty-five or so left at 7:45 and returned late in the evening after a time of their lives. The special features were a big and continuous feed at which 150 pounds of spring chicken were consumed, a tour of Lake Geneva on a specially chartered steamer, a general good time during which every one was made to feel at home.

Strenuous Home Rule.

A New York mission worker tells of encountering a new game in one of the tenements in that region.

Two urchins were driving a rubber ball back and forth with home-made rackets. The youngsters were intensely absorbed in their sport.

"What rules are you using?" asked the mission worker, with a smile, "English or American?"

"Aw, weese got our own rules," replied one of the youngsters, scornfully. "I bats der ball ter Chummy till he misses a bounce, an' den I gets de right ter swat him tree times wid me bat."

FIFTEEN YEAR OLD BRIDE

Relatives of Grayslake Girl Discovers She is Married. Courtship of Two Days

MAY ANNUL THE MARRIAGE

According to Records it is Shown that the Girl is 20, but Her Relatives Say She is Only Fifteen

Steps to cause an annulment of a marriage may develop this week as the result of the admission of a Grayslake young miss, 15 years of age, that she is a married woman, her mother not knowing until Saturday anything of the ceremony although it took place a week ago.

The girl is Alma Thurlwell, the fifteen year old daughter of Mrs. Emily Thurlwell of Grayslake. The man in the case is Thomas Haas of Wauconda, who for some time has been employed picking cucumbers for his uncle at McHenry.

The couple's marriage took place in Justice Orvis' office, Waukegan, a week ago last Friday, and the singular and more interesting part of it is that the couple had really become acquainted with each other only the previous Tuesday at the Libertyville fair.

In other words, they met on Tuesday, fell in love at first sight and were married on Friday.

The young girl who has just past her fifteenth birthday, was sent to McHenry by her mother, her plan being to start school the following week. There she was introduced to Haas and it is said they believed themselves to be each other's natural affinity, and the marriage plans began to mature at once, with the result that they came to the Libertyville fair on Friday, then hurried to Waukegan and Haas procured the marriage license.

According to the records, it is shown that the girl is twenty years old and Haas is 22. The girl's relatives say she is just fifteen and that Haas may be over 21, but they don't believe it.

Haas swore to the age of the girl in getting the license, and because of the misstatement, the girl's relatives are figuring on starting the annulment proceedings as they don't favor the match, particularly because of the girl's youth.

Since the marriage the girl is supposed to have been visiting relatives in McHenry but on Saturday she returned to her home in Grayslake and told her mother of her marriage, whereupon her relatives were wroth and heart broken.

The bride now feels she made a mistake and it is said she may not oppose any steps toward an annulment her relatives may take.

METHODISTS

HOLD MEETING

IN ZION CITY

The shade of Dowie was expected to turn flip flops Sunday last and it was also anticipated that Volira's comments would tear the roof off the tabernacle and spread devastation for miles around.

The reason of all this commotion was that for the first time in the eight years of its chattered history Zion City had a real Methodist church meeting within its limits, the members of the East Benton Methodist church meeting in the dining room of the hospice on a tender made by Overseer Bryant and Percy Booth Clibborn.

Dowie's rule was that no church but their own could exist within the limits, and Volira would like to have it that way, but the anti Volivans had their way for once.

Working Nurses Needed.

A New York woman says that there is a great demand for nurses in the families of ordinary people who might be able to pay from $10 to $15 a week, but would expect the nurse to not only help with the sick ones, but assist with the work that is so much greater when there is sickness in the family. The trained nurse as a general thing would scorn to do anything else but her work proper, and she has her rights, but it will certainly be a good thing for the country when some one establishes a kind of working nurse who is not above helping those who cannot afford to hire the trained nurse and servant as well and are, under ordinary circumstances, their own servants.

A ROMANCE OF A PENNSYLVANIA FARM

SYNOPSIS.

The crowning desire in the life of old Baumgartner was to obtain possession of a beautiful meadow. The property was inherited by Sarah Pressel, very pretty and athletic young girl. Baumgartner came to realize that his only hope of obtaining the property would be through the marriage of his son Stephen to Sarah Pressel. In a mock auction "Seffy," as Stephen's father, Baumgartner, Jr., is popularly known, is raffled off by his father to Sarah for $1. Sarah Pressel is quite the opposite of Seffy. Baumgartner gives Seffy some lessons in courtship. Baumgartner has caused himself to be appointed guardian of Sally. She promises Seffy that she will never kiss any man but him. Sam Fritz, a drunken grocery clerk, calls on Sally and interrupts the kissing. Sally goes to sleep and begins snoring. Sally leaves the room in a huff, saying: "Good night, gentlemen." Seffy tells his father of his humiliation; of how he slept a pastboard to Seffy and Sally meet at the Polson spring. She urges him to do something to redeem himself. The father advises Seffy to take Sally home from church. This would be the crucial test, according to the custom of the times. It was the rule in such a test that the one whose arm the girl accepted when leaving the church would be the favored suitor. Then Sam Fritz takes Sally's arm. She says: "I am satisfied," and Seffy is left in disgrace. Sam continues his drinking and Sally begins to acquire the habit. Baumgartner curses his son and strikes him a powerful blow with his hat, full in the face. Then the repentant father gathers the youth in his arms. His cries attract Sally and Sam Fritz. Sally rushes up to Seffy's room and finds him unconscious. In the morning Seffy has disappeared. It is a sad and lonesome winter for old Baumgartner. He thinks his son is dead, somewhere from the effects of his cruel blow. When old Baumgartner goes to Sally's home to surrender to her his papers as her guardian he finds her haggard and worn, with sorrow. She agrees to quit drinking if he will take the papers back and continue as her guardian. Old Baumgartner and Sally continue to be bosom friends. Sam dies of drinking and Sally goes to keep house for old Baumgartner. Reading "The Farm Journal," she is attracted by a masterly article by "B. P. Baumgartner, Jr., president of the Kansas State Farmers' league." She writes, pleading with him to return. Long she waits, but no answer comes.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

"Pappy, I have done more—I have hurt him worse than you did—I broke his heart!" whispered the girl. "Oh, I should have thought—there was no one like him—but I let him go. If he were here now—"

They sat silent then until the old man said:

"Ah well! Come, Sally, it's bedtime."

"Yes."

This meant that it was time for their prayer, which they always said in each other's arms, there, before the great fire. So Sally slipped to the floor, and they folded their hands each in the other. And, after "Our Father" was done, came this—rude, simple, but not less a prayer; for in the five years of Seffy's absence it had passed into a formula.

"God, find Seffy, wherever he may be, for thou seest all the world, and put it into his heart to come back to those who have repented these many years; make him merciful to the old and the evil-tempered, and yet, if this be not in thy infinite purposes, O God, we bend our heads in submission, for it is thy punishment for our sin; but send some word or sign, that our hearts may be comforted, and thy will be done—Amen!"

And while this was being prayed a face came to the window in answer—a hand brushed away the snow that the eyes might see better. And then a head, crowned with pale hair, was uncovered—reverently.

Sally looked up. Something as irresistible as a magnet drew her eyes to that face in the window.

As they got up the old man saw Sally's white face and staring eyes.

"Sally," he said, "you look like you'd seen a ghost!"

There was a knock on the outer door.

"Bring him in, whoever he is, Sally, and keep him till he's got hungry no more—nor cold—nor sorry—"

Sally did not speak, but went, still with that strange look in her eyes, as if she had indeed seen a ghost.

He heard her pass through the hall and open the door—then a little cry—some begging—silence—a sob. After what seemed a long time, Sally returned alone. She did not come to his knee again, but stood panting before him. He could not see her face. She did not mean that he should—the fire was all about her—illuminating her—but there.

"Where is he?" asked Seffy's father.

"Out there."

He turned at the strange throbbing of her voice. And then he saw her face, lighted with a great radiance.

There was a moment of silence. In the firelight she was as beautiful as a figure of Greuze. That vagrant thing, joy, had come back. But whence?

"Sally, what's the matter? I never saw you look so. My God! what's the matter?"

"Shut your eyes!"

The light of the fire flooded her face now and made it too wonderful to close his eyes upon.

"Sally—for the Lord's sake—" pleaded the old man.

"Shut your eyes," she glanced over her shoulder, "and be happy."

"Don't, Sally."

She slipped to the floor and knelt at his feet.

"Pappy, to-night I am a magician. To-night I can give you anything you want. But you must ask for what you want most."

She smiled lovingly upon him.

"Shut your eyes and ask."

Poor old Baumgartner did as she commanded. And, for a long moment, there was silence. Then a tear dropped on his face. For in the firelight poor, sad, sorry old Baumgartner was making a picture, too; a white, old, hopeless, piteous, pleading face, framed in masses of hair, shaggily gray when Seffy went away, sensibly white now. The sunken eyes spoke of hastening peace after sorrow, and the whole piteous figure begged for those tears which fell upon its face.

"Oh, pappy, excuse me," said the voice which had gathered to itself all the music of the life he thought broken, "but you have so often called me beautiful that I want to tell you now that you have the most beautiful face I have ever seen! Pappy—pappy, dear pappy, God bless you!"

And her lips descended upon his, her dear fingers closed his eyes once more, her handkerchief wiped away the tear she had dropped upon his face and others which had followed it, and she said:

"Are your eyes shut? Yes! Now, ask for anything you want on earth or in heaven—and you shall have it. Do not be afraid! The very dearest thing you can think."

"Seffy—" he whispered brokenly—"Seffy and you—and me—together!"

"Presto! Open your eyes!" cried Sally.

He did so—and there, kneeling before him, was Seffy—and one arm was about Sally, the other reaching out to him—not quite certain how it would be received, but with the old smile of Seffy. He seemed bigger, and he had a young beard on cheek and lip, and he appeared quite worthy to be the president of the Kansas State League of Farmers' clubs.

Old Baumgartner looked without a word, at first to be sure, then to fill all his being. And then he rose to his feet and shook off all the years that had accumulated during Seffy's absence, and when his arms were about them both, and theirs about him, their joint shadow rose and filled all the room and ceiling—blotting out all else. And, lo, it was not three shadows, but one!

"Seffy," asked his father, while his arm went about his shoulders with the unconsciousness of what seemed yesterday, "how did you ever get president of that sing?—what is it?"

"I fought for it, pappy."

"You? Gosh-a-mighty!"

They both laughed happily.

"Yes—you and Sally were right—I needed to learn to fight. I went out

"Oh, yes! Sam couldn't get away with me now!"

"Nor Sally, hah?"

"Nor Sally."

"Don't," pleaded Sally, "you hurt me!"

"You see," Seffy went on, "you notice the changes in me, but not in yourselves. Shall I tell you about them? For none of us will ever again be quite as we were. Shall I tell you about the changes in you?"

"No," begged Sally quickly, with drooping head.

"They are beautiful! All beautiful!"

"No!" she repeated.

His father had dropped into his chair, still happy but very tired. For, you know, great happiness tires one, too.

"Seffy," he sighed, "why did you wait so long—tell I got old?"

"There is still one thing you haven't noticed about me, or spoken of, if you did, in which I am not changed a bit."

"What?"

It was Sally's quick voice—Sally, who thought she had already inventoried every difference between this Seffy and the old one—Sally, who hungered for the least thing in which he might be unchanged!

"I'm stubborn as ever—thank you, pappy!"

"Goshens! That's so! You was a stubborn little idiot!"

"We were," laughed Seffy.

"If it hadn't been for that—"

"I wonder what would have happened? Do you know?" Seffy said to Sally.

"No," sighed Sally.

"I think," said Seffy, with a grace and tenderness he never had in the old days, "that we get and lose what we deserve to get and lose. I didn't deserve you then, dear. Perhaps I do now?"

Sally said nothing—she could not. Her face was deep in his overcoat. And she was making it so very wet—that, presently, she lifted her face, and, with her handkerchief, dried it.

"That is the sweetest thing you have ever said to me—and it breaks my heart—for I don't deserve it—that one little, simple word—dear!"

"Well, well," broke in happy old Baumgartner, drying his own eyes, "is this a time for weeping and wailing and gnashing of the teeth? The prodigal has returned. We got to find a nice fat calf."

"Well," laughed Seffy, not relinquishing Sally, "what is the first thing? I'm ready for work. I'm used to it!"

"To-morrow, Seffy," said his father briskly, "you better let Sally marry you. Remember she bought you."

He gave Sally time to blush, and Seffy time to find both her hands and her lips, and then he finished:

"And make it early—maybe the first thing in the morning. In the afternoon we'll take down the fence. All three of us. It's waiting for us. Sally keep it waiting. Ain't so, Sally?"

Sally affirmed this.

(THE END.)

SOME ERRORS OF THE TYPES.

Really Amusing Blunders of Which Record Has Been Kept.

An author who has a scrapbook devoted to typographical errors was showing the articles to a friend. One item concerned a dance. The word "bonnier" was misprinted, with this deplorable result: "There was no bonier ladies present than the mayor's own daughters, and this fact was further emphasized by the perfect fit of the shepherdess costumes they wore."

A country paper, after telling how a cow got in front of a train, said: "As the safest course, under the circumstances, the engineer put on full steam, dashed into the cow and literally cut it into two halves."

A New York society editor, misprinting the word "chill," published this statement: "Mrs. Astor was unavoidably absent from the reception, being kept at home by a bad chill."

One by Gen. Miles.

Gen. Miles used to tell of a surgeon at a certain post during the civil war who was chaffed a great deal for his flowery and extravagant style of expression, both written and oral. On one occasion it appears that the colonel of the regiment had appropriated the surgeon's tent for a mess-table, without the usual formality of stating his intentions. Whereupon the surgeon sent a complaint to the officer in command. Among other things he said: "I have not so much as a fly to interpose between my head and the star-decked heavens above me."

This unique document followed the regular routine and eventually returned to the unfortunate surgeon with the following endorsement: "Col. Brown will cause a fly to be interposed between the head of the complainant and the star-decked heavens above him as soon as possible."—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

A Matter of High Politics.

One of the wittiest of English peers is Lord Longford, and he has also earned the reputation of being one of the worst dressed, in spite of the fact that for 20 years he has been in the Second Life Guards. The story goes that a friend once met him in Ireland garbed in a pair of continuations which were not on speaking terms with his boots, and chaffed him mercilessly about the "lucid interval" that occurred between them. But "Tommy," as Lord Longford is known to his intimates, in no wise disconcerted, blandly explained that it was really a matter of high politics. "You see, my dear fellow, the breeches are made by a tailor who is a rampant Orangeman, while the boots are the achievement of a Fenian cobbler, so how can you expect 'em to meet?"

322 SLIPPED TO THE FLOOR AT HIS FEET.

Into the world where you sent me—thank you both—and found life. And I found it a fight from start to finish. Only with some there is no quarter."

"But not with you," said Sally.

"But not with me," agreed Seffy.

"That is not necessary to success."

"Gosh! Seffy," said his father, "you are as wise as ol' Kellerman, the preacher. Say, you remember him?"

"I remember everything—the smallest—and it is all precious, pappy—more precious than you can know. If one were never to leave this Happy Valley, one might live and die as I began. And, if one should never learn better it is good—good! But it is not the life of the world out there. And, for me, it is gone for ever! In one way I am sorry. For the world has nothing to exchange for these little things. Out there my heart has always yearned for them and always will. You and Sally must keep them as they are—may, as they were. And I shall live in them and with them and we shall be happier for them."

During all this Seffy's arms and hands had been busy in the old fashion of the days of their simplicity. It was good to see and better to be!

"I don't believe it," cried his happy old father, returning his caresses. "You ain't forgot a sing! You chust the same—except the dictionary words—chust the same—our Seffy! Ain't so, Sally? Why don't you talk, anyway?"

"Just—the same," said Sally. But the tears were in her dear eyes and she knew that her words were for the father and not the son—for him she understood that it would never be the same—quite, and it was she who had sent him forth to lose the simplicity of the Happy Valley.

"Not a bit—you ain't changed!" repeated the father, as if saying it might make it so.

"Yes, I am," laughed Seffy.

"You ain't!" said his father.

Happenings of Illinois

News Notes of Interest Gathered in Cities, Towns and Villages of the State.

GO TO SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

White and Colored Children Not Educated Together at Alton.

Alton—Despite a ruling of the supreme court of Illinois that the local board of education has no legal power to segregate the races in the public schools, 75 negro pupils were turned away when they reported for enrollment in the schools for white children. In every instance policemen were on hand in anticipation of trouble, but the negroes submitted quietly.

Thirty negro children, accompanied by their parents, reported at the Washington school. Here three members of the board of education and five policemen informed them that they had been assigned to one of the three schools provided exclusively for negroes.

The court decision, which declares the board is without legal power to segregate the races, also demonstrated that it takes a negro 11 years to get into a white school in Alton. Unless he is very young when suit is begun he is past school age when it is decided, and therefore gains nothing by going to law.

It was 11 years ago that two negro children sued the board. A few months ago an opinion was handed down in their favor. They were past 21 years of age when the case was terminated.

The suit was begun as a test case, but did not directly affect any except the defendants. If any others wish to enter the white schools they will have to go to law. If a similar delay is experienced they will be grown men or women when the suit is ended.

The board of education reserves the right to assign pupils, white or black, to any school in the city, regardless of residence or location. Often, it is said, white children are taken from one school to another to alleviate crowded conditions, or for other good reasons.

In transferring negro children, always the board assigns some reason. However, they are sent, in every instance, to one of the three negro schools.

Fight for County Seat.

Ridgway.—A special election for November 10 has been ordered by the Gallatin county court to vote on the proposed removal of the county seat from Shawneetown to Ridgway. Ten years ago Ridgway lost in a similar election by only a few votes. While the present capitol and courthouse have been the scene of many interesting debates between Logan, Ingersoll, Lincoln, Yates and other old-time national characters, Ridgway hopes to win, as it is nearer the center of the county.

Watchful Engineer Prevents Wreck.

Carmi.—The prompt work on the part of the engineer on the St. Louis flyer on the Louisville & Nashville saved the train from a disastrous wreck. As the train neared McLeansboro at top speed a wheel jumped the track and pulled a car off with it. Passengers were thrown from their seats. The engineer checked the train before the car was badly damaged. D. L. Shay of Clinton was the only passenger hurt seriously enough to require medical aid.

Angler Hooks Money.

Mount Vernon.—Thinking that he had captured the whale that caused Jonah so much trouble, a Polish fisherman hooked a sack containing money, notes, and checks from a creek south of this city. The find is the property of James Healy, whose store was robbed and safe dynamited a short time ago.

Youthful Lover in Trouble.

Fairfield.—Charged with stealing the horse and buggy in which he eloped to Mount Vernon, with Miss Laura Kronmiller, but failed at the time to get married on account of his youth, William H. Roberts was arrested at his home and taken to Mount Carmel by Sheriff Moore of Wabash county.

Walks Tracks with Purchases; Killed.

Freeport.—After lying with his body terribly mangled, his shrieks and groans unheard for nearly nine hours before discovered, Charles Counter, a young farmer, who was struck by an Illinois Central freight train, died here. He was walking along the tracks with his purchases when struck.

Robert Patterson's Body Found.

Centralia.—The body of Robert Patterson, missing for some days, was found in an orchard near his home northeast of this city. He was a brother of Judge Charles Patterson, and chairman of the Marion county Republican central committee.

Increase Assessment Half Million.

Taylorville.—The board of review for Christian county has finished its labors and adjourned sine die. It has added to the fair cash values as returned by the assessors, as follows: Real, $307,974; personal, $237,655.

Steamer Hits Barge.

Alton.—A barge loaded with piling was struck by the steamer New Haven and forced into such a position in the shallow water that the channel of the Mississippi river was almost blocked.

MARK SITE OF DEBATE.

Limestone Boulder Set on Historic Spot in Duquoin.

Duquoin.—A huge boulder of native Union City limestone now marks the spot in the Union county fair grounds at Jonesboro, south of this city, where Lincoln and Douglas held one of their series of memorable debates in 1858. It is 3½x4 feet square, weighs 5,000 pounds and is set in concrete. The massive stone bears this inscription: "September 15, 1858. Lincoln and Douglas Debate; September 15, 1908, celebrated."

The fiftieth anniversary of the debate will be elaborately observed by the citizens of Jonesboro and Union. The following speakers will deliver addresses: Gov. C. N. Haskell of Oklahoma; Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois; Col. Clark E. Carr of Galesburg, a personal friend and associate of Lincoln; Gen. Alfred Orendorf of Springfield, president of the Illinois State Historical society, and J. McCan Davis of Springfield, Republican candidate for supreme court clerkship.

MASONS ELECT CHICAGO MEN.

Annual Assembly of Grand Council Meets at Canton, Ill.

Canton.—At the annual assembly of the state grand council of Royal and Select Masons, held here, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Most illustrious grand master, C. D. Clarkson, Chicago; illustrious deputy master, H. T. Hubbard, Urbana; principal conductor of work, Edward R. Roe, Chicago; grand treasurer, John C. Smith, Chicago; grand recorder, George W. Warvelle, Chicago; grand captain of guard, E. A. Vaughn, Princeton; grand conductor of council, Fred G. Schroeder, Chicago; grand sentinel, J. A. Delancy, Centralia.

Disease Postpones School Opening.

Taylorville.—On account of a small-pox scare which exists in this city the board of health ordered the postponement of the opening of the city schools. Two cases of the disease have been quarantined. Miss Brovatsky and Grover Hoover, a dry goods merchant, are the afflicted persons. It developed that Miss Brovatsky, who is employed at the residence of Mr. Hoover as a cook, has been afflicted with the disease several days and has been visiting the various nickel theaters and had exposed more than half the town to the disease.

The board of education has ordered all the school children vaccinated, which task will require at least a week, and the schools will not be opened before the first of next week, if then.

Leaves Money to Baptists.

Chicago.—Through the will of Mrs. Harriet W. Hewitt, which has been admitted to probate at Albion, N. Y., Baptist missionary societies of Chicago will receive nearly $30,000. Mrs. Hewitt died August 3. Among the beneficiaries are Rev. Charles E. Hewitt of the University of Chicago, a brother of the decedent, who is left $3,000, and Ella McComber Evans, a niece, who receives $2,000.

Central Illinois Lutherans Meet.

Havana.—The annual mission of the St. John's German Evangelical Lutheran church of Central Illinois was held at the Lutheran church and park at Matanzas lake. There was preaching in German in the morning and evening by Rev. Friedrich Jass of Peoria and Rev. H. B. Dahl of Chandlerville, Rev. Henry Traub, pastor of the Matanzas church, was in charge of the evening services.

Body on Track; Murder Thought.

Highland.—John Bernhart, 80 years old, of Pocahontas, was found dead on the Vadalla tracks here. Relatives say when he left home he had $150, but only $2.50 was in his clothing when the body was found. A deep cut on the head indicates he had been murdered.

Lutheran Leagues Choose Officers.

Peoria.—At the annual convention of the Lutheran leagues of northern Illinois the following officers were elected: W. Stein of Peoria, president; Bertha Wiederanders of Chicago, secretary; Ida Croshaw of Streator, treasurer.

Land Pana Liquor Seller.

Pana.—Herman Engle was found guilty of dispensing liquor in local option territory and bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $200. The trial lasted three days.

Puts Money in Bank; Forgets.

Taylorville.—Depositing five dollars in the Vandever bank over 40 years ago, W. J. Waddell of May township forgot it and was surprised when he received a check for the amount. The bank is preparing to go out of business.

Married to "Holy Jumper."

Miss Gertrude Williams, sister of Mayor Williams of Mount Vernon, the original "dry" mayor of southern Illinois, was married to R. J. Warren, a "Holy Jumper" from Waukesha, Wis.

Night Sweats & Cough.

E. W. Walton, Condr. S. P. Ry., 717 Van Ness St., San Antonio, Tex., writes: "During the summer and fall of 1902, my annoyance from catarrh reached that stage where it was actual misery and developed alarming symptoms, such as a very deep-seated cough, night sweats, and pains in the head and chest. I experimented with several so-called remedies before I finally decided to take a thorough course of Peruna."

"Two of my friends had gone so far as to inform me that the thing for me to do was to resign my position and seek a higher, more congenial climate. Every one thought I had consumption and I was not expected to live very long."

"Having procured some Peruna, I decided to give it a thorough test and applied myself assiduously to the task of taking it, as per instructions, in the meantime."

"The effects were soon apparent, all alarming symptoms disappeared and my general health became fully as good as it had ever been in my life."

"I have resorted to the use of Peruna on two or three occasions since that time to cure myself of bad colds."

IN THE OLD MILITIA DAYS.

"Captain, you will appear on the parade ground with your company at ten o'clock for inspection."

"Sorry, colonel, but you'll have to postpone it till to-morrow! I promised my wife that she could use the cannon to-day for a churn!"

EYESIGHT WAS IN DANGER.

From Terrible Eczema—Baby's Head a Mass of Itching Rash and Sores—Disease Cured by Cuticura.

"Our little girl was two months old when she got a rash on her face and within five days her face and head were all one sore. We used different remedies but it got worse instead of better and we thought she would turn blind and that her ears would fall off. She suffered terribly, and would scratch until the blood came. This went on until she was five months old, then I had her under our family doctor's care, but she continued to grow worse. He said it was eczema. When she was seven months old I started to use the Cuticura Remedies and in two months our baby was a different girl. You could not see a sign of a sore and she was as fair as a newborn baby. She has not had a sign of the eczema since. Mrs. H. F. Budke, LeSueur, Minn., Apr. 15 and May 2, '07."

The Sign of Power.

It is the greatest manifestation of power to be calm. It is easy to be active. Let the reins go, and the horses will drag you down. Anyone can do that; but he who can stop the plunging horses is the strong man. Which requires the

MIGHT BE WELL TO WARN THEM.

Aunt Martha Was Impressed with Danger Threatening Soldiers.

"Bless me, Martha!" exclaimed Uncle Cyrus, looking up from his magazine, says the Youth's Companion. "We're getting a navy that don't need to take a back seat for any of them European nations." Aunt Martha continued placidly measuring out the ingredients of "mountain" cake, and manifestly was not unduly excited over naval affairs.

"Just listen to this: Some fellow has been making estimates. Any half-dozen of our big cruisers have engine strength equal to the pulling power of all the horses in the Russian cavalry!"

"The engines of our big battleship Louisiana are strong enough—if they could be fastened anywhere—to pull the hull United States cavalry into the sea, an'—"

"Mercy sakes!" cried Aunt Martha, with arrested spoon—for the first time impressed with these interesting statistics, "I hope to goodness our cavalry'll keep away from the shore!"

DOGS CLIMBED UP ICY WALL.

St. Bernards Saved from What Looked Like Certain Death.

There was sorrow in the home of Bruno Kronich, says a tourist in a letter from Switzerland to a Glasgow paper, when it was learned there that the three beautiful St. Bernard dogs, Dina, Medea and Solna, which had aided in many rescues, had been lost over a snow-covered precipice near Hochschneeberg. They were with the party in search of the three mountaineers who were lost a few days before. They slipped off the ice-covered Herminenstein and landed on a rock which overhung a deep chasm. From this they could not go down or up, and the helpless animals howled pitifully. The animals were given up for lost, and for that reason the rescuing was great when at dawn the next day the dogs appeared at the Baumgartnerhaus and barked for admission. Investigation showed that the dogs had worked their way up against the almost perpendicular snow and ice wall.

"Ole Mis' Moon."

Madam Fairfax was wont to stand on the porch of her old Virginia home and rejoice on moonlight nights in the beauty. "There's my moon," she would say, as it rose from behind the eastern hills. "Look, Dahlia, see how beautiful it is," and her tiny colored maid, who was ever at hand with shawl or fan for her beloved mistress, would answer, enthusiastically, "Your moon certainly do look pow'ful handsome to-night."

When Madam Fairfax journeyed to the city to visit her son, Dahlia, looking out of the window with wondering eyes on the first evening of her life away from home, exclaimed in a voice of mingled astonishment and relief, "Well, I declare! to goodness, if ole Mis' Moon ain't done come along to Washington wif me and ole mis'! We can't be homesick nohow, wif ole Mis' Moon shining on us."—Youth's Companion.

Shields for Modern Warriors.

Recent experiments at Sheffield, England, suggest the possibility that in this century shields may once more form an important part of the equipment of an army. Steel shields, three millimeters in thickness, and about 150 square inches in area, have been devised, which afford complete protection against bullets fired from the service rifle at a range of 400 yards. The small size of the shield, which weighs only seven pounds, requires that the soldier shall lie prone on the ground in order to be sheltered. Each shield has a loophole for the rifle, and studs at the sides, so that a series of them can be linked into a continuous screen. The idea is that by the use of such shields the necessity of digging trenches may be avoided.—Harper's Weekly.

Aid for the Explorer.

"Peary," said a geographer of Chicago "never started on one of his exploring expeditions without receiving by mail and express all sorts of packages from cranks—cowhide underwear, tea tablets, medicated boots and what-not.

"Peary once told me that George Ade, a few days before the start of his last trip, wired him to expect an important package by express.

"The package came. It was labeled: 'To be opened at the furthest point north.'

"Peary opened it at once, however. It was a small keg inscribed: 'Axle grease for the pole.'

Brain in the Muscles.

"If you want to develop the brain in its highest capacity you must do it through the muscles of the hand." So said Sir John A. Cockburn at the annual conference of the National Association of Manual Training Teachers, at the Carlton hall, Westminster, Eng. "Memory" resides largely in the muscles," he added. "If you want children to remember their lessons you must bring their muscles into play. Thereby you stamp those lessons in the memory!"

The Job for Him.

"There's one job I'd like to have in this world," said Gritty George from behind the lumber pile. "I'd like to be a health inspector and condemn water."

"You would, pard?" echoed his chum of the ties in surprise.

"Yes, I'd condemn all of it!"

When you have a cold you may be sure that it has been caused indirectly by constipation and consequently you must first of all take something to move the bowels. This is what has made Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup so successful and so generally demanded. It does not constipate like most of the old fashioned cough cures, but on the other hand it gently moves the bowels and at the same time heals irritation and allays inflammation of the throat. "A girl will never forgive a man whom she has jilted," says the Philosopher of Folly, "if he makes a success in life."

Heart Strength
Heart strength, or Heart Weakness, means Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, nothing more. Freely, but not weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden evil, a hidden danger, a hidden threat. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply beats, and must have, more power, more vitality, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative
This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has the best done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, fluttering heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is also directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds up strength, it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong, hearty, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—Re-establish them as needed, with

A Precious Document.
The light of day has not been shed on the original draft of the Declaration of Independence in five years, and there is no likelihood of its being placed on view until 1928.

It is a pity when sick ones drug the stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. That is all wrong! A weak Stomach, means weak stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves are instead crying out for help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is prompt helping Stomach Heart and Kidney ailments. The Restorative reached out for the actual cause of these ailments—the failing "inside nerves. Any way test the Restorative 48 hours. It won't cure so soon as that, but you will surely know that help is coming. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Kodol will, without doubt, make your stomach strong and will almost instantly relieve you of all the symptoms of indigestion. It will do this because it is made up of the natural digestive juices of the stomach so combined that it completely digests the food just as the stomach will do it, so you see Kodol can't fail to help you promptly. It is sold here by J. H. Swan.

A Sure-enough Knecker.

Pride Taketh a Fall.
Pride went out on horseback and returned on foot.—Italian proverb.

How to Get Strong.

P. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress St. Chicago, tells of a way to become strong. He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it is my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at J. H. Swan's drug store. 50c.

State Capital News

Breezy Gossip, Notes and Doings of Interest at Springfield.

Springfield.—The Illinois State Journal Company was the successful bidder for the class 2 printing work to be done by the state of Illinois during the next two years, under the bids opened by the state contract board. The contract for the work, covering the two years from October 1, 1908, to October 1, 1910, will be let by the board as soon as the regularity of the bids is established. The bids for the state coal contract were opened and the contract will in all probability be awarded to the Capital Coal Company, the lowest bidders.

Seeks Change of Venue.

Joe James, indicted for the murder of Clergy A. Ballard, and whose life was sought by the mob during the recent riots, but who was spirited away in an automobile, was arraigned before Judge Crelighton. He pleaded not guilty and asked a change of venue on the grounds that race prejudice among the people made a fair trial impossible. The court overruled the motion to quash the indictments against Abe Raymer, indicted as the mob leader, for the murder of Scott Burton and W. H. Donnegan, who were lynched. Only one of the indictments in the Donnegan murder was quashed. Springfield citizens organized a law and order league, with Rev. J. H. Boswell president. The purpose is to drive questionable characters, black and white, from the city.

Begin Trial of James.

The trial of Joseph James, a negro, charged with the murder of C. A. Ballard, began. James pleads self-defense, though admitting that he stabbed Ballard to death. The negro crept into the room of Ballard's daughter during the night. When the girl screamed her father grappled with James and was killed. This tragedy, followed closely by the alleged assault upon Mrs. Earl Hallam by a negro, was largely responsible for precipitation of the recent race riots. James was one of the negroes whose life the mob sought, but who, with George Richardson, was taken away from the Springfield jail in an automobile.

Troops Go to Indiana.

Company H, Eighth Infantry, I. N. G., composed of 63 men and three commissioned officers, under command of Capt. W. D. Hodge, left over the Wabash for Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. The company will join national guardsmen from Indiana in an encampment of ten days. Beside the local company, three companies from Decatur, Bloomington and Jacksonville also left for Indiana. The four companies form the third battalion of the Eighth regiment of colored militia and are under command of Maj. Otis Duncan.

Rain Badly Needed.

Serious and irreparable damage has been done in many parts of the state because of the lack of moisture. Rain-falls of insufficient and unsatisfying amounts are reported from a few stations, according to a report by William B. Burns, section director. In many districts the drought is becoming serious, and unless rainfall comes within a short time, the farm products will be harmed considerably. A cool wave, followed by a light frost in northern localities, overspread the state during the early part of the month.

Will Open an Office.

Sergt. Holman, who is in charge of the local Marine corps recruiting office, received authority from the headquarters to open up a permanent office in room 303 Odd Fellows' building. The local office will serve as the headquarters of central Illinois and Sergt. Holman will establish an office this week in Danville. Branch offices in Decatur, Champaign and Jacksonville, as tributaries to the local office, are also contemplated.

State Cases Are Continued.

The suits of the people against state treasurers and auditors who have retained moneys paid into them for registering bonds of municipalities, were continued for service in the court. Those that were continued are the people against Moses Williamson and others, Charles S. Deneen, governor, against Lydia Williams, and the people against Sarah E. Tracey.

James Porter Returned.

James Porter, a negro, indicted by the special grand jury for alleged complicity in the assault on William Bove during the race riot, was returned from Hannibal, Mo., by Deputy Sheriff Clendenin. Porter fled the city and was apprehended at Hannibal by the authorities there.

Name Waterway Body.

Under a joint resolution adopted by the last general assembly, Gov. Deneen appointed five members of the deep waterway committee, as follows: Isham Randolph, Chicago; Lyman E. Cooley, Chicago; R. R. McCormick, Chicago; Walter Reeves, Streator; R. R. Bourland, Peoria. The purpose of the commission, which includes in its membership five members each from the house and senate, is to investigate and determine the state's rights in rivers and other bodies of water within and bordering the state.

Requisitions Issued.

Gov. Deneen issued a requisition on the governor of New York for the return to Chicago of Harold J. Jelenko, who is under arrest in New York and wanted in Chicago on a charge of larceny as bailee. He was employed by the Nathan Sloan Company of Chicago and is alleged to have departed with a trunk of samples belonging to the concern. Charles Ludwig will be returned from Muskegon, Mich., to Chicago to answer a charge of forgery. He is alleged to have passed a worthless check purported to have been signed by Kerchoff & Hewbarth of Chicago for $250. The governor issued a requisition on the governor of Indiana for the return to McLean county of Joseph Reardon, who is a paroled convict from the Illinois penitentiary, and who is now serving a term in the Indiana state penitentiary.

Illinois Rich in Clay.

Missouri changed places with Indiana and thus became sixth instead of seventh in rank among the states as a producer of clay products in 1907. Illinois also made an advance, passing New York and taking fourth place. The output of clay products in Missouri in 1907, as shown the other day, was valued at $6,898,871, and at $6,696,275 in 1906; the value of the Indiana product was $6,858,124 in 1907 and $7,158,234 in 1906. The production in Illinois in 1907 amounted to $13,220,489, as compared with $12,634,181 in 1906. The production in Illinois last year was 8.32 per cent. of the total production of the country. Every state and territory was a producer in 1907, the values ranging from $40,107, or .37 per cent. of the total, in South Dakota, to $30,340,830 or 19.09 per cent. of the total, in Ohio.

Riot Indictments to Stand.

Judge Crelighton, in the Sangamon circuit court, overruled the motion by counsel for Abe Raymer, indicted on the charge of murder in the lynching of William H. Donnegan (colored), on the night of August 15, and for rioting, inciting riots, and destruction of property, to have the indictments returned by the special grand jury declared void and illegal. The charge was made by Raymond's counsel that the state's attorney did not show that public justice required the convening of a special grand jury as required by law. As soon as the decision of the court was rendered Raymer appeared in court and entered a plea of "not guilty" to all counts.

Hid in Ambush for Troops.

While a company of colored troops was preparing to leave the Wabash station for Indianapolis a man was discovered lying in the shadows nearby ready to assault the soldiers with bricks. The man had at least a half bushel of bricks broken down to handy throwing size and ready for use, the minute the train started to pull out. His intentions were discovered in time and the fellow was chased away before he had an opportunity to start a race war all his own.

Deep Waterway Body Named.

Under a joint resolution adopted by the last general assembly Gov. Deneen appointed the following committee: Isham Randolph, Lyman E. Cooley and R. R. McCormick of Chicago; Walter Reeves of Streator, R. R. Bourland of Peoria. The purpose of the commission, which includes in its membership five members each from the house and senate, is to investigate and determine the state's rights in rivers and other bodies of water within and bordering the state.

Governor Names Board.

Gov. Deneen announced the appointment of members of the state board of registered nurses in compliance with an act effective July 1, 1908. The members are: Helen Scott May, Bena Henderson, Anna Hanrahan, Chicago; Mary C. Wheeler, Quincy, and Katherine Matthews, Springfield.

Seeks Description of Sparks.

Sheriff Werner has wired to Cincinnati authorities for a description of Edward Sparks, the negro arrested there and believed to be wanted here for connection with the recent riots. It is not known here who the negro is and until his description is secured it will be impossible to tell whether he is wanted.

State Equalizers Hold Session.

A short session of the state board of equalization was held in this city. Owing to the fact that only a few reports from the various counties have been received, an adjournment for two weeks was taken.

Geologists Visit Capital.

A party of 20 geologists, including members of the United States geological survey, two members of foreign geological societies, and members of the state organization, were in Springfield for a brief visit. The party came from the south on a special interurban car and were met by members of the chamber of commerce with autos and given a ride about the city. Dinner was served at the Illinois Country club for the visitors and social entertainment will be provided for the party.

REPUBLICANS WIN DUTY OF MOTHERS

CARRY MAINE, BUT BY GREATLY REDUCED PLURALITY.

DEMOCRATS ARE PLEASED

National Issues Are Not Potent in Influencing the Result — Bert Fernald of Poland Is Elected Governor.

Portland, Me.—Although the Republicans came off victorious in the state election Monday, Bert M. Fernald of Poland being chosen governor over Obadiah Gardner of Rockland, the Democrats had the satisfaction of seeing the normal Republican plurality cut to less than 10,000 votes for the first time in a presidential year for more than a quarter of a century.

All four Republican candidates for congress were elected and for state auditor, Charles P. Hatch of Augusta (Rep.) defeated his opponent.

At 10:30 Monday night returns for governor from all the cities and 400 towns and plantations out of 499 gave Fernald (Rep.) 68,300, Gardner (Dem.), 61,616. The same places in 1904 gave Cobb (Rep.) 70,882; Davis (Dem.), 46,712.

This shows a Republican loss of four per cent. and a Democratic gain of 32 per cent. On this basis the Republican plurality in the state was estimated at about 8,000.

The Republicans were on the defensive throughout the campaign, seeking to hold the state by the usual plurality by answering the various Democratic arguments, which were mainly for resubmission of the prohibitory law, taxation of the wild lands and reform in administrative methods. But little was said of national issues, although the Republicans, through outside speakers, sought at various points to bring such subjects to the attention of the people. Local issues, however, proved more popular.

DANGER POINT IS PASSED.

Minnesota Towns Considered Safe from Forest Fires.

Duluth, Minn.—While forest fires are still burning along the north shore, it is believed, they have passed the danger point so far as the threatened destruction of villages is concerned. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of good timber is being destroyed, however.

Grand Marais, Chicago Bay, Loveland, Big Bay, Pigeon river and other smaller settlements immediately along the shore are thought to be safe. The situation on the Mesaba range is also greatly improved and the flames in that territory have now reached a stage where they are no longer considered dangerous to the towns.

EXCURSION TRAIN TELESKOPED.

One Killed and Many Injured at Chesterton, Ind.

Chesterton, Ind.—One Chicago woman was almost instantly killed and nearly two score of other persons, most of them residents of Indianapolis, were more or less seriously injured in one of the worst excursion wrecks of the year, which occurred at Chesterton Monday.

A Lake Shore suburban train known as the "Chesterton theater dummy," crashed into an Indianapolis excursion train which had been stalled near the station. The dense smoke blown down from the northern forest fires is declared to have been one reason for the accident.

WILSON COLLINS IS RELEASED.

Former Cashier of Elkhart Bank Completes Prison Sentence.

Leavenworth, Kan.—Wilson Collins, former cashier of a bank at Elkhart, Ind., was released from the federal prison here Tuesday morning after a six-year sentence for violation of the national banking law.

Collins was sentenced at the same time with A. N. Broderick, president of the bank, and Walter Brown, a financier who borrowed heavily from the bank. The three men are brothers-in-law. Collins at the trial turned state's evidence and testified that the bank loaned Brown three times the legal amount.

Four Michigan Convicts Escape.

Ionia, Mich.—Four convicts escaped from the state prison here by reaching the basement with a false key, while the prisoners were being given liberty in the corridors, and then breaking their way through the basement walls.

Shoots Woman, Kills Self.

Derby, Conn.—Nicola Bolaro, an Italian, late Monday fired five shots from a revolver at Mrs. Tersina Proda, three of them taking effect. Bolaro then killed himself.

Says the Army Smuggles.

Havana.—The Union Espanola in an editorial alleges that the United States army is smuggling into Cuba great quantities of meat and other goods, thus escaping the payment of duty, and selling the goods. Gov. Magoon has ordered an investigation.

Three Killed on Yazoo Road.

Memphis, Tenn.—Passenger train No. 314 on the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroad was wrecked near Clarksdale, Miss., Monday. Three persons were killed and 30 injured.

TEACHING DAUGHTERS BY GIVING THEM RESPONSIBILITY.

"Incentive" Often the Only Thing Necessary to Bring Out Child's Qualities—Plan Adopted by One Woman.

This season of the year is just the time for the housekeeper to take pains and make plans to develop in her youngest daughter all the qualities that go to make up an all-round housekeeper.

Go away for a whole day now and then and leave the entire responsibility of the household—ordering, cooking and dusting—to the daughter. If you are without help in the kitchen, all the better, for the daughter will learn all the quicker and learn all the more. If you have one or more older daughters send them away and give over all responsibility to the youngest, who is sure to be overshadowed so long as older sisters are around.

I have a friend, that while her two older daughters, both capable housekeepers, were away this summer, gave full charge to a daughter of 13. She spent each day of one week away, returning at night, just in time for supper. She neither gave any orders in the morning or went into the kitchen at night before supper. Everything was satisfactory and a most excellent dinner served one night when there were two extra for supper. Things ran with wonderful smoothness, and the house was kept in apple-pie order. Other members of the family could scarcely believe it, as this suddenly developed housekeeper of but 13 summers had always shirked responsibility, and even work, to such an extent that her older sisters and brothers had long been convinced that their youngest sister was simply "lazy" and never would learn.

When will mothers believe that so-called "laziness" is simply lack of incentive. Further, that "incentive" with some natures comes spontaneously, when presented to them as a form of duty; others have to have a spontaneous desire to create an incentive. In this case it becomes the parents' highest duty to search and search with ingenuity, wisdom and patience until the power to quicken the mainspring of the child's character has been reached.

This may mean many failures and many heartaches, but with each attempt much is learned to form a stepping-stone to wider experience. In this case it becomes the parents' highest duty to search and search with ingenuity, wisdom and patience until the power to quicken the mainspring of the child's character has been reached.

I thoroughly appreciate the fact that it is more often far easier to do a thing yourself than to with patience see it half done by the daughters. But if we look at this as but one disagreeable part of our business of housekeeping, we will at once accept the temporary annoyance with cheerfulness. One of the most exasperating duties to me is to teach a child to make cake, and yet I have always forced myself to accept it as but a part of my business, just as the husband has in commercial life many annoying details to wade through. I think men are more inclined to take such things "as a matter of course."

One son demanded to be taught the art of cake making, even to fancy icing, and to-day no one of the four that followed has been able to touch his quality of gingerbread. Outside of our duties to our daughters as future housekeepers we should bear in mind that the work of the hands develops the brain, else how would we have the present wonderful inventions in modern machinery?

I do not wish to sidetrack too often from practical housekeeping, but wise housekeeping keeps in mind the sacred fact that a woman's duty is not done when she just provides good, wholesome meals, comfortable clothing and a neat house. She must by thought, word and deed teach her children by giving them responsibility, and thus force them to think, to manage and to work in their own homes, if she aims to be a "wise" housekeeper.

Curry of Fish.

Three hard-boiled eggs, two tablespoonfuls of butter or dripping, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one dessert-spoonful of curry powder, one dessert-spoonful of chutney, two cupfuls of milk, half a pound of cooked fish, three ounces of boiled rice.

Melt the butter in a saucepan, stir in the flour smoothly, stir it over the fire for a few minutes, then add the curry powder and chutney. Next add the milk and stir the sauce over the fire till it boils and thickens. Next cut the eggs into slices and the fish into flakes. Add them and the rice to the sauce, mix well together. Pile it up on a hot dish and garnish with croutons of bread.

Do This Now.

To clean the refrigerator wash the inside once or twice a week in cold weather, every other day in hot weather, with plenty of borax or washing soda in warm water. Then place pieces of charcoal in the corners to absorb the odors of food. These should be removed often.

Cheese-Olive Sandwiches.

Split a kind of good, wholesome, plain cracker in halves. Spread with a layer of cream cheese, then a layer of chopped stuffed olives. Press together and serve.

PLANT TRAMP BY INSTINCT.

California Cactus Blows Around the Desert for Months.

Curious among vegetable growths and one which is seldom seen of men is the rootless cactus of the California desert, says the "Technical World." This plant, a round, compact growth, rolls about the level floor of the desert for some eight or nine months of the year, tossed hither and yon by the winds which blow with fierceness over all of California's sand flat during those months.

At the coming of the rains, or rather the cloudbursts, which sweep the desert in its springtime, this cactus takes root wherever it happens to have been dropped by the last wind of which it was the plaything and immediately begins to put out all around it small shoots, which in turn become cacti, exactly like the parent plant.

These young growths increase in size rapidly, sucking the moisture both from the parent plant and from the surrounding earth. The roots do not penetrate the soil deeply, but spread often over a circle whose radius is not less than ten feet. These roots, too, are small, but practically innumerable, and they get every bit of moisture and plant food to be had in the territory they cover.

THE SAFE WAY TO BUY PAINT.

Property owners will save a deal of trouble and expense in keeping their buildings properly painted, if they know how to protect themselves against misrepresentation and adulteration in paint materials. There's one sure and safe guide to a pure and thoroughly dependable White Lead—that's the "Dutch Boy Painter" trade mark which the National Lead Company, the largest makers of genuine White Lead, place on every package of their product. This company sends a simple and sure little outfit for testing white lead, and a valuable paint book, free, to all who write for it. Their address is Woodbridge Bldg., New York City.

READY REASONING.

One Guess About Venus of Milo Proved to Be Wrong.

They stood before the reproduction of the Venus of Melos.

"Her hands must have been beautiful," said one.

"Very," assented the other. "I wonder what position they were in?"

"I have a theory that she was represented as busied at her toilet. One hand probably held a small mirror."

"And the other a powder puff, eh? But that theory won't work."

"And why not?"

"Had she been at her toilet her mouth would have been full of hairpins."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

So Much Alike.

A curious story went the rounds some little time ago about a lovely foreigner, one of whose verbal slips gave King Edward occasion for a hearty laugh. A very lively personage, with a delightful accent, she made such a favorable impression upon the king that he asked her to be his partner at bridge. "But, sir," she said, "I really don't know how to play." The king would take no denial, however, and she became rather embarrassed. "I assure you, sir," she said, "I don't know the difference between a king and a knave." There was an awkward silence, and then she realized what she had said, and was covered with confusion. The king, of course, laughed it off, and now tells the story with gusto.

A Timely Air.

During one of the political tours of Mr. Cleveland, in which he was accompanied by Secretary Olney, he arrived during a severe storm at a town in which he was to speak. As he entered the carriage with his friends and was driven from the station the rain changed to hail, and immense stones battered and rattled against the vehicle. A brass band, rather demoralized by the storm, stuck bravely to its post and played.

"That is the most realistic music I have ever heard," remarked the president.

"What are they playing?" asked the secretary of state.

"'Hail to the Chief'—with real hail!" rejoined Mr. Cleveland.

It Came Off.

The fair bather was in the greatest danger when the heroic rescuer seized her by the hair. It came off. Puffs and coils and waves and rats it strewn the shuddering sea.

For a moment the rescuer was dazed.

Then he grasped the tiny knob of real hair that remained on the lady's head and drew her into shallow water. Did she thank him for saving her life?

She didn't.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Shower of Sulphur.

Charolles, a small town 30 miles from Macon, in France, has recently been visited by a shower of sulphur. The roofs, gardens, fields, vineyards, rivers and ponds were covered with a yellow dust, and for some time the peasants in the fields were troubled by a sulphurous biting odor which made breathing difficult.

STORE ON SATURDAY AND MON-DAY NEXT AND MAKE SELEC-TION FROM THIS MAGNIFICENT
STOCK WHILE IT IS COMPLETE

Ladies' Fall Suits

It is acknowledged by people who know that our line of Ladies' Suits compares favorably with the lines carried by the largest stores in Chicago and while the garments are equal in every respect our prices will be found in many instances to be 25 per cent below the prices asked in these other places of business.

The suit we sell at $25.00 we will guarantee absolutely cannot be duplicated for less than $40.00 elsewhere. This fact has been acknowledged by most critical buyers. These beautiful garments are all lined with Skinner satin and the styles--enough said if they come from the Alex Hein Store.

For Saturday and Monday we will have a great special sale on suits. You will find suits at $7.98 that it would seem impossible for the maker to produce at the price. Suits for $10 including all wool broadcloths and other fine and fancy materials. Next on the list comes a positive $22.50 suit at surprisingly low price $15.

HOUR SALE

Between the hours of 10 and 11 Saturday morning a special lot of

Flannelette Dressing Sacques

worth 75c will be put on sale at the bargain price
